

Iron County Register.

E. D. AKE, : : : : EDITOR.

VOLUME XVII, NUMBER 11.

IRONTON, MO.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 27, 1883.

The Ohio election will be held on the 9th of October. The result may be classed as doubtful, with fair chances in favor of the election of the Democratic nominees.

The Mary Churchill mystery is still a mystery, and her people know as little of her whereabouts as they did the day after her disappearance. 'Tis a curious civilization, this of the 19th century.

The Ste. Genevieve Fair Play calls this paper the "lone fisherman" in its support of Mr. Bashaw for Governor. Our contemporary will please bear in mind that it is the "lone fisherman" who makes the big catch.

Governor Crittenden will not call an extra session of the Legislature on account of Judge Noonan's decision in reference to the application of the Downing high license law to St. Louis. Of this we feel assured, for we have faith in the Governor's "second thoughts."

The Rich Man's President.

When President Arthur commences his round of dinner eating at Newport he naturally begins with a dinner at Vanderbilt's villa.

There is an eminent fitness and propriety in this.

Vanderbilt, at Newport, represents the triumph of money in society. Arthur, in the White House, represents the triumph of money in politics.

Vanderbilt represents the corporate monopoly interests, whose motto is, "the public be damned."

When Arthur and Vanderbilt clink their glasses they understand each other. The money power establishes an alliance, rounds out the collar which it proposes to fasten about the neck of the people.

Arthur is not the people's President; he is the rich man's President.—Post-Dispatch.
